

For You to Do

A. On your paper, write the word which tells:

1. how many children are in your classroom
2. how many teachers are in your school
3. how many brothers and sisters you have
4. how many trees God made
5. how many rooms are in your house

B. Use a word which tells how many to complete each sentence below. Write each sentence correctly.

1. — animals live in the woods.
2. Father saw — deer yesterday.
3. — rabbits have been seen by Timothy.

C. Look at each picture below. Write a sentence about each picture. Use a number word to tell exactly how many.

Example:

One window is open.

Answers:

For You to Do

A. Answers will vary.

B. Answers will vary.

C. Answers will vary.

when we do not know exactly how many, we can use one of these words. Tell them that you will ask some questions, and they should use one of these words to answer each question. Possible questions to use are:

How many stars did God make?
How many pencils are in my desk?

Read the lesson together before assigning the written work.