Fill in the blanks with spelling words from the first column.

At nearly every meal, the pioneers ate corn in some form. Sometimes they cooked it and used it in (3) soup. For a special treat, they roasted the ear of corn until it was (4) ready to eat. The colonists used corn for money. Would it not seem strange to give corn instead of money for a (5) Bible to read?

Some words have more than one meaning.

Wait to write until I have said the sentence twice. Then you write the entire sentence. Begin the sentence with a capital letter and end it with a period. Here is the sentence. Listen while I say it twice.

Now we have one more sentence. Wait to write until I say the sentence twice. Then write the entire sentence. Remember to begin with a capital letter and end with a period.
