

Show me the way.

Top: Child should first trace with his finger the shortest clear path the boy can take to pull his sled to his home. Does child think ahead to avoid retracing? In tracing with pencil, child should try to draw the line in the center of the path, without touching either side. When the pencil line is drawn correctly, he may trace the line with crayon. Bottom: As above, have child trace the path the woodchuck will take through his burrow to find fresh clover to eat.
